

Curriculum Vitae

Shuangshuang Chen

Lecturer, Institute of Modern Languages and Linguistics, Fudan University, China

Email: chen_ss@fudan.edu.cn Phone: +86 182 2182 8611

Research Interests

Pragmatics and Discourse Analysis; Theoretical and Computational Linguistics; Syntax-Pragmatics Interface; Pragmatic Inference and Implicit Communication.

Education

- Ph.D. in Linguistics, University of Auckland, New Zealand (2014–2019)
- M.A. in Chinese Linguistics, Jilin University, China (2010–2013)
- B.A. in Chinese Language and Literature, Jilin University, China (2006–2010)

Professional Experience

- Lecturer, Institute of Modern Languages and Linguistics, Fudan University, China (2021–present)
- Honorary Postdoctoral Fellow, Faculty of Arts, University of Auckland, New Zealand (2020–2021)
- Vice Principal and Chinese Teacher, Jinan University New Zealand Chinese School, New Zealand (2015–2020, part-time)
- Chinese Language Teacher, College of International Education, Jilin University, China (2013–2014)

Selected Publications

- Chen, S. (2026). Null Subjects in Chinese Discourse: A Centering-Theoretic Perspective. Routledge. (Monograph)
- Xiaoran Chen, & Shuangshuang Chen*. (2026). The use of nǐ ‘you’ for third-person reference in Mandarin conversation. Languages, 11(7), 140. (Corresponding Author)
- Zimeng Li, Yichen Qiao, Xiaoran Chen, & Shuangshuang Chen*. (2026). Evaluating large language models on Chinese zero anaphora: A symmetric Winograd-style minimal-pair benchmark. Symmetry, 18(1), 47. (Corresponding Author)
- Chen, S. (2025). An evaluation of ChatGPT’s Chinese commonsense reasoning ability from a pragmatics perspective. Journal of Xi’an International Studies University, 3, 8-13.
- Chen, S. (2024). Resolving Chinese Anaphora with ChatGPT. International Conference on Asian Language Processing, 31-36.
- Chen, S. (2023). Interrogative mood particles in Lianhua dialect of Gan Chinese. Chinese Linguistics, 1, 167–180.
- Chen, S. (2020). The distribution of null subjects in Chinese discourse. Analysing Chinese Language and Discourse across Layers and Genres, 13, 12–36.
- Chen, S. (2019). Centering Theory: A Cross-linguistic Study. Foreign Languages in China, 4, 55-64.

Research Projects

- Principal Investigator, Post-grant Project of the National Social Science Fund of China (2025–2028)
- Principal Investigator, A Multi-Perspective Study on Discourse Anaphora Resolution Mechanisms in Modern Chinese, Shanghai Philosophy and Social Science Planning Youth Project, China (2022–2025)
- Principal Investigator, A Computational Modelling Approach to Chinese Discourse Anaphora Processing, Shanghai Pujiang Research Project, China (2022–2025)
- Principal Investigator, The Resolution of Anaphoric Null Subjects in Chinese Discourse: Data Annotation, Algorithm Design and Analysis, Faculty of Arts Doctoral Research Fund, University of Auckland, New Zealand (2018–2019)
- Co-Investigator, History of Overseas Chinese Grammar Studies and Database Construction, Major National Social Sciences Foundation Project, China (2017–2025)
- Co-Investigator, Chinese Textbook for MA Program in Chinese, Massey University, New Zealand (2016–2017)

Conferences and Presentations (Selected, 2022–2026)

- Evaluating large language models on Chinese zero anaphora, International Conference on Chinese Language and Discourse, Universidad Autónoma de Madrid, Spain (2026)
- Applying Pragmatic Theories to Large Language Models: Status, Challenges, and Future Directions (Invited Talk), The 19th National Pragmatics Conference & the 13th Annual Meeting of the Pragmatics Committee, Chinese Association for Logic, Shanghai, China (2025)
- A Pragmatic Analysis of Implicit Offensive Language on Chinese Social Media Discussion Forums, The 19th International Pragmatics Conference, Brisbane, Australia (2025)
- Exploring the Interactional Functions of Zero Anaphora in Mandarin Conversation, AAAL Annual Conference, Denver, USA (2025)
- Zero Anaphora in Mandarin Conversation, International Conference on Chinese Language and Discourse, Nanyang Technological University, Singapore (2024)
- Resolving Chinese Anaphora with ChatGPT. International Conference on Asian Language Processing, Hohhot, China (2024)
- The Distribution and Pragmatic Constraints of Null Subjects in Chinese Discourse, Second National Symposium on Pragmatics, Beijing, China (2022)

Professional Affiliations

- Member, International Association of Chinese Linguistics (2025–present)
- Member, American Association for Applied Linguistics (2024–present)
- Member, International Pragmatics Association (2024–present)
- Member, Chinese Pragmatics Committee, Chinese Logic Society (2023–present)
- Editorial Board Member, Humanities and Social Sciences Communications (2023–present)
- Secretary General, South Pacific Chinese Language Education Research Association (2020–present)
- Member, British Linguistic Association (2019–present)

Honors and Awards

- Shanghai Pujiang Talent Award (2022)

- Shanghai Leading Talent (Youth) Award (2022)